The following title is suggested: The term "Novel" in the title is objected to.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The term "selectively" in claims 1-9 is a relative term that renders the claim indefinite. The term "selectively" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention. Said term renders the claim indefinite in that it would require undue experimentation to determine what falls within the operative scope of the invention.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite in that it fails to point out what is included or excluded by the claim language. This claim is an omnibus type claim.

The claimed acetogenin derivatives are known in the art per se and are indeed naturally occurring as tacitly conceded by applicants. A substantially pure form would be inherent to one of ordinary skill in the art as it would be little more than a function of the yields and purities desired for the use intended. Obtaining this purity level by well-known purification techniques would have been an obvious expedient. Moreover, the term "substantially pure" without more is inherently vague. It reads on straining through cheesecloth for example.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McLaughlin et al US 5,955,497.

McLaughlin et al US '497 teach substantially pure acetogenin and their use as recited in the claims. See, for example column 1 lines 15+ to column 2 line 60.

No claim is allowed.
